

If and when the time is right,
please remember
St Andrew's Hospice in your Will.

Making memories
to cherish forever

How a gift in your Will can help...

"My life was built around the golf course, I was a good golfer but I hadn't played golf in two years because of the pain and my mobility.

When I first met my complementary therapist, she asked me what my aim was. I told her that it was to get back on the golf course but I didn't think that would ever happen.

I went to the golf range this week, that was the first time I'd hit a golf ball in almost two years. Boy, did I enjoy it, it was great!

I hit the first ball and it came off the sweet spot as they say, I couldn't have hit it any better! I couldn't get back up the road quick enough to tell my sister!"

"My husband was in the Hospice and four days before he died, it was our Ruby Wedding Anniversary.

We had booked a meal for family and friends at a local hotel and the Hospice staff helped us to get my husband dressed in his best to go.

When our son and daughter-in-law brought us back, we saw that the staff had arranged to have his bed moved into a private room, where there was a bed I could sleep in, to be near him on our last anniversary. It was a very thoughtful thing to do.

They also arranged a special breakfast for us both the next morning. This was only one of innumerable kindnesses shown to us as a family while my husband was ill."

It's special moments like this that a gift in your Will will make happen.

Your gift will help families to celebrate the lives of their loved one while they are together, no matter how long or short the time may be.

Your gift will really make a difference!

It is quick, easy and inexpensive to have a basic Will drafted by a qualified professional.

When you write a Will and keep it up to date, you can feel secure in the knowledge that your wishes will be honoured after you are gone and that the people you care about will be provided for.

If you have an existing Will but would like to leave a gift to the Hospice, you can do this by having a Codicil added to your Will.

Did you know?

- If you do not leave a Will and have no next of kin, everything you own could go to the State.
- We recommend that your Will be properly prepared by a qualified professional who can advise you on your specific circumstances.
- You can leave us just 1% in your Will so that those closest to you receive 99%?

Legacy Promise

Our promises about Gifts in Wills:

We promise to use your gift wisely for the benefit of future generations.

We absolutely recognise that those close to you come first in your Will.

We will never ask you to tell us your intentions, but if you do tell us your intentions, we are able to say thank you, which is nice to do!

We will never ask you the size or type of legacy if you decide to support our work this way.

We promise not to intrude on your privacy by telephoning you about this way of giving.

We fully understand that personal circumstances change and there might be a time when you must take St Andrew's Hospice out of your Will.
